Get Comfortable With God A Centennial Year Worship Service in The Pumpkin Patch

When the first settlers brought their wagons to this land, it's likely that they often paused in the shade of some great tree and knelt there to worship God and to thank Him for his many blessings: for the promise of a bright future, a place to build their homes, a place to raise their families, a place to work the land and a place where they could live each day, seeking the comfort and assurance of His Peace.

Now more than 100 years later, on Sunday, October 14 at 10:00am, we will gather under our great trees – for a special outdoor worship service in The Pumpkin Patch. There you are invited to enjoy the fellowship of friends, a bit of breakfast and beautiful music. Seating and some tables will be provided, but feel free to bring your favorite folding chair and stadium cushion. It might be a bit chilly, so a blanket could come in handy. This is a real opportunity to get comfortable with God. At 10:45am Dr. John will deliver his “Sermon in The Patch”.

We are blessed. Most of us have come to realize all the hopes and dreams of the early pioneers – and so much more. But like the pioneers, we still live each day, seeking the comfort and assurance of His Peace.
